

PRINCE

IS WILLING AND SHE SEEMS ANXIOUS.

MRS. PARKHURST MAY YET WED ROSPIGLIOSI.

WINSOME WIDOW WILL WIN.

Providing Her Latest Move Is Successful and Love Is Always Resourceful.

Rome, Jan. 13.—Mrs. Parkhurst of Bangor, Maine, and Washington, is not at all discouraged in her efforts to marry Prince Rospigliosi. The Prince is willing to be wed, but both he and Mrs. Parkhurst wish to have the marriage celebrated in the Catholic church.

Mrs. Parkhurst is a divorcee and her task at first seemed impossible.
Her only hope was to have her marriage with Mr. Parkhurst, which was performed by Archbishop Chapelle, annulled by the church on a technicality.

In pursuance of this hope she claimed she had no recollection of receiving a dispensation for her marriage to Mr. Parkhurst. One was necessary because Mr. Parkhurst was a Protestant. The Vatican investigated and found that a dispensation had been obtained. A copy was produced.

Love is resourceful. It did not take Mrs. Parkhurst long to make another move. Today she asked that her marriage to Mr. Parkhurst be annulled by the church on the ground that he was an atheist. Should this prove to be the case Mrs. Parkhurst will win her prince.

COAL STATION

Not Far From Isthmian Canal Regardless of Whether U. S. Gets the Danish West Indies.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Regardless of whether or not the United States secures the Danish West Indies and thereby the harbor of St. Thomas, this country will have a coal station strategically located in reference to the eastern opening of the isthmian canal.
That will be at Culbraz Island, just off the eastern point of Porto Rico. For some time the navy department has been preparing to make of this deep water port a thoroughly equipped and fortified naval station. The North Atlantic squadron has been manœvering off it several weeks examining the harbor, and Saturday the Dolphin left Washington to make final surveys.
The Leonidas is now at Norfolk about to leave for Culbraz. She has taken aboard ordnance for the station, and supplies to last a battalion of marines for two years.

GOVERNOR

Drove Alone to Cemetery to Put Flowers on the Grave of His Wife and Daughter.

Columbus, O., Jan. 13.—Governor G.
K. Nash arose early this morning and drove to Greenlawn cemetery to bow at the graves of his wife and only child before for the second time, taking the oath as Governor of Ohio. He carried a bunch of flowers for each grave and brushing the snow away, the Governor uttered a prayer as he deposited the blossoms on the frozen mounds of those who had known of his ambitions but were not permitted to live to enjoy with him their realization. Mrs. Nash has been dead about ten years, and the daughter about five. The latter was 12 years old when she died.

The cemetery is about five miles from Governor Nash's residence. He made the trip alone, except for his coachman. His step-daughter and mistress of the executive mansion, Mrs. Worthington Babcock, would have accompanied him, but the Governor desired to be absolutely alone in this sacred communion. The Governor made a visit to the graves of his loved ones on the morning of the day he first took the oath as governor.

the elevator of the American Malt company at 2 o'clock this morning loss is $300,000.

SLASHED THROAT

Army Officer Makes a Sensational Attempt at Suicide in a San Francisco Fruit Store.

San Francisco, Jan. 13.—Captain W.
J. D. Horne of the Ninth cavalry, United States army, made a deliberate attempt at suicide in an O'Farrell street fruit store owned by A. Dalporto. Dal-porto was dressing a chicken in the rear part of the store, when the captain walked hastily up to him and asked whether the knife he was using was sharp. "It is," said Dalporto, and in an instant Horne grabbed it and slashed himself across his throat. Dal-porto grappled with the captain and a desperate struggle followed, in which the fruitman received a slight gash on the right side of the neck. The shouting and the scuffle between the two men, both standing six feet high and each weighing 200 pounds, brought a crowd, and with the aid of several men Horne was overpowered and taken to a hospital. He will probably recover from his wounds. Captain Horne arrived from Manila in December. While in the service at Manila the captain was seriously ill in the hospital, suffering from dysentery and fever.

TAMMANY CHIEF

LEWIS NIXON, SUCCESSOR TO RICHARD CROKER.

Sketch of the New Leader—Mr. Croker Says That He Is Out to Stay.

New York, Jan. 13.—Lewis Nixon Tammany Hall's new leader, took his place at his desk in Tammany Hall this morning, so long occupied by Richard Croker. He announced that the corner stone of Tammany's new policy would be honesty. "I want to see our organization restored to the confidence of the people and made an instrument of good to the community," he said. "This means an end to the graft system. It means war on the gambling combine and an end of police blackmail."

New York, Jan. 13.—Richard Croker at the Democrat Club Sunday, in discussing his stepping down and out as leader of Tammany and the selection of Lewis Nixon to succeed him, said:
"Yes, I am out of the leadership and out of all committees, and Mr. Nixon is in. I'm out to stay, too. Whenever I can be of help to him or to any other leader I shall be ready to join hands and work for the organization."

New York, Jan. 13.—In the presence of Richard Croker and of the executive committee of Tammany Hall, gathered in the historic old wigwag in Fourteenth street, ex-Judge George M. Van Hoesen, president of the general committee, announced the appointment of Mr. Lewis Nixon to succeed Mr. Croker as chairman of the finance committee and virtual leader of Tammany Hall. Mr. Croker made a farewell speech in which he advised the workers of the organization to depend upon principles to win prestige.
He said he did not fear the influence of the deserters, Lewis Nixon, the new Tammany leader, was born in Virginia in 1861. He was graduated from the United States naval academy at the head of his class. He has written several books on marine topics and designed a number of vessels, notably the battleships Oregon, Indiana and Massachusetts.

Coshocton Postoffice.

The struggle for the Coshocton, O., postoffice has been resumed at the point where it was left off just before the holiday recess. C. R. McCoy who desires re-appointment, and W. A.
Babine, who heads the faction who opposes him have been in Washington and each has been having innum-erous interviews with Senator Hanna.

COULDN'T AGREE

JURY IN THE OAKES CASE IS DISCHARGED.

Counsel for the Fair Defendant Immediately Moved for a New Trial

New York, Jan. 13.—"Unable to agree" was the report of the jury in the case of Millionaire Francis J.
Oakes who sued his beautiful wife for divorce on statutory grounds. Mr.
Oakes named Mario Del Sol, a music teacher, as co-respondent.

The jury went out Friday afternoon.
They deliberated eight hours but could not agree on a verdict. Ten of them favored Mrs. Oakes. They could not win over the obdurate two.

"Abe" Hummel, counsel for Mrs.
Oakes, moved an immediate retrial of the case when the disagreement of the jury was announced this morning. He said the stand of the jury indicated that an injustice had been done his client. Judge Truax fixed Monday, January 20, as the date for the retrial.
Mrs. Oakes was in court this morning. She heard the report of the jury with apparent unconcern.

RAILWAY WRECKS

Two Passenger Trains Collide at Chicago—Collision in Georgia—Train in a River.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—A fast passenger train from New York crashed into the rear of another express from Cincinnati on the same system at the Baltimore and Ohio railroad crossing near Forty-ninth street and Westworth avenue. Two men, both train attaches, were seriously and perhaps fatally injured, and although the passengers on both trains were severely shaken up, no serious injuries were suffered. The cook, Robert Hatcher, was caught in the wreck and was terribly burned by the fire, which caught from the overturned stove in the kitchen. He probably will not recover. The other injured man was John Tuberty, who jumped from the rear engine. He was badly cut and received internal injuries. William Wallace, engineer, jumped and escaped with slight bruises. No reason is given for Wallace's failure to stop his train in time to avoid the accident.

Wreck in the South.
Rome, Ga., Jan. 13.—As a result of a collision between a passenger and a freight on the Southern railway, near Reeves station, twenty miles north of Romayne Simmons, sustaining a bruised and 12 cars were wrecked.

injured.

riously injured.

man embassy.

PRETTY WIDOW

IS BEING TRIED IN MISSOURI FOR MURDER.

Arrest of the Son of the Murdered Man's Partner May Help to Solve the Mystery.

Plattsburg, Mo., Jan. 13.—Mrs. Addie L. Richardson, a handsome young widow, was placed on trial here today for her life. She is accused of the murder of her millionaire husband, Frank W. Richardson, a merchant of Savannah, Mo., on Christmas eve a year ago. The arrest in North Yakima, Wash., on January 6 of Stewart, a son of the murdered man's business partner, under indictment for the Richardson murder, gives promise that the mystery surrounding the "tragedy may be revealed. The prosecution will try to prove that Fife was surprised in Mrs. Richardson's company by the wronged husband and that Fife shot him down to avoid exposure. If Fife is acquitted as principal, Mrs.
Richardson cannot be convicted.

SCHLEY SLIGHTED

By the Men of Cruiser New York—A New Story of the Battle is Printed.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—A book entitled "Schley at Santiago" is on the press in this city. The author is George E.
Graham, a war correspondent, who had exceptional facilities for gathering materials, as he was on board the Brooklyn during the fight with the Spanish fleet. The book is said to have the unqualified indorsement of Rear Admiral Schley, who read and corrected the proof sheets. When President Roosevelt was governor of New York he indorsed Mr. Graham's account of the battle, which was delivered in an address to the state officials and the legislature. The author in his book says that after the great naval battle, when the cruiser New York came up, Commodore Schley attempted repeatedly to communicate with those on board the New York, but all his signals were ignored. After the engagement the crews of the Oregon, Texas, Vixen and other vessels cheered like mad for Commodore Schley, but, the author says, from the cruiser New York, standing hard by, there came not a sound of joyfulness and never a cheer.

Vessel Appropriated.
Colon, Colombia, Jan. 13.—The South American Steamship company, having refused to charter its steamer Lantaro to the Colombian government to be used by the latter as a gunboat, General Alban, the military commander of this district, issued a decree appropriating the vessel. He has taken possession of it and has deposited a sum of money equal to its value with Senator Ehrman, a banker of Panama.
The captain and crew of the Lantaro will remain in the service of the Colombian government.

MR. SCHWAB'S LUCK HAS DESERTED HIM

Monte Carlo, Jan. 13.—Charles M.
Schwab, president of the United States Steel Trust, who has been playing roulette rather wildly here for several days past, broke the bank yesterday afternoon. Then he began to lose.
Now it is understood that Schwab has dropped several thousand dollars in addition to the 75,000 francs which he recently won on two successive comps.

Fatal Shooting.

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 13.—This morning while Policeman Joe Cruse was going home, five shots were fired and he thought an effort was being made to assassinate him. A moment later he found a crowd of men and attempted to arrest Lon Nelson, a well-known citizen. A fight resulted in which Cruse fatally shot Lon and Alex Nelson, brothers.

NOTORIOUS

Brigand Who is Credited With 520 Murders and Many Robberies is Captured.

Bucharest, Jan. 13.—The police have captured the celebrated brigand, Luk-Bebeanu, who during 30 years of outlawry has committed 520 murders and 3,000 recorded robberies. He was suspected of complicity in the abduction of Miss Ella M. Stone, American missionary, but this he denies.

TICKET

PLANNED BY GOV. HILL WITH CARTER H. HARRISON

As a Running Mate—Conference Held in Chicago—Attended by Bryan and Others.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 13.—If plans now being laid by friends of David B. Hill, of New York, do not miscarry the Democratic National Convention of 1904 will nominate this ticket:

For President—David B. Hill of New York.

For Vice President—Carter H. Harrison of Illinois.

Secret conferences were held in Chicago a week ago, at which this proposed ticket was discussed. Those participating in the conference were James K. McGuire of Syracuse, N. Y., William J. Bryan of Nebraska, and Mayor Harrison of Chicago. It is believed that McGuire has before this reported to David B. Hill and to the New York State Democratic Committee of the Executive Committee, of which he is chairman, that the Mayor of Chicago is a receptive candidate for the Vice Presidential nomination.

Mayor Harrison himself, when asked about the story last evening, said:

"I have nothing to say about what closer to David Bennett Hill than I K. McGuire, who had the office of Mayor of Syracuse for five consecutive terms. His mission to Chicago last week, it is understood, was as the emissary of David B. Hill and the New York Democratic State Committee."

Interest is stimulated in McGuire's mission to Chicago by the fact that William J. Bryan of Nebraska, also came to this city during the 8,000 man's visit. Bryan registered at the Sherman House on January 1, two days before McGuire had received his name on the books at McGuire's hotel. The Eastern politicians went back home on January 3, the day following a conference at the Sherman House, the purpose of which Mayor Harrison sought so assiduously to conceal.

Efforts were made at the time to ascertain from the Mayor the significance of his consultation with the Nebraskan, but Mr. Harrison evaded inquiries. The fact that Mr. Bryan is now generally disassociated from any connection with a national nomination has given to local politicians the theory that his advice was solicited and accepted.

NASH

INAUGURATED GOVERNOR THE SECOND TIME.

CEREMONY WAS FOLLOWED BY MILITARY-CIVIC DISPLAY.

GOVERNOR G. K. NASH'S ADDRESS

G. A. R., Ohio National Guard, Uniformed Clubs and Societies in the Parade—Day's Program.

Columbus, Jan. 13.—There is more talk here today over the refusal of ex-Governor Bushnell to take part in the inaugural ceremonies than there is over the inaugural itself. Gov. Nash says that Gov. Bushnell's interpretation of the letter was wrong and that he intended to give the ex-Governor and Mrs. Bushnell a prominent place in the line.

Columbus, O., Jan. 13.—Thousands of persons from many points in the state were attracted to this city today, to participate in or to witness the elaborate exercises incident to the inauguration of Hon. George K. Nash as governor of Ohio for a second term.
His induction into office was a brilliant event, and not a slip marred the harmony of the occasion. The arrangements were under the direction of committees appointed by the Columbus Board of Trade, and the governor, a long resident of Columbus, was tendered a complimentary inaugural

The overshadowing feature of the day was the inaugural parade. Thousands of persons participated, and the line of march was thronged with enthusiastic spectators. In the parade were several companies of soldiers from the United States barracks in this city, the state militia, Grand Army veterans and heroes of the Spanish-American war, uniformed political clubs, civic societies, appropriate floats, and numerous brass bands.
The exercises in the rotunda of the Capitol were solemn and impressive, and advantage was taken of the occasion to informally dedicate the new state building, which adjoins the Capitol on the east. The weather was cool and the streets covered with a light coat of snow.

Governor Sworn In.
Troop B of the Fourth regiment, assisted by the Grand Army veteran drill corps, formed the governor's personal escort. These two organizations reported to Grand Marshal Axline at the Board of Trade building at 10:15 and at 10:30 a. m. started with the inaugural committee of the legislature, in carriages, out Broad street to Governor Nash's residence on Jefferson avenue, to escort him to the state-house for the inaugural ceremonies in the Capitol rotunda. The gubernatorial party being in readiness, was at once escorted to the Capitol building.
The interior of the rotunda of the Cap-

HON. CARL L. NIPPERT.
itol had been decorated with festoons of smilax sent to Columbus from the south and the national colors were tastefully arranged over the arches.
The corridors were beautified by a magnificent display of palms and potted plants which filled the corners and vacant spaces of the old and new buildings.

THE HOUSE NOT A DELIBERATIVE BODY.

The passage of the Nicaragua canal bill by the House of Representatives by a practically unanimous vote—338 to 2—is another illustration—and we have had many such—of the practical effacement of the popular branch in the business of considering, and especially perfecting, public measures of vast importance. It was the same with the Philippine bill, jammed through after a few hours of perfunctory debate. It is admitted that the Nicaragua bill did not pass the House in the shape it is desirable it should become a law. It was a most imperfect and ill-considered measure, and yet carries with it the largest expenditure of money ever made by the American Congress for a single object. On all great questions the House, under our form the sole representative of the people, has abdicated its powers and virtually says, "Let the Senate deliberate; it is not our business." As Speaker Reed boasted, the House is no longer a deliberative body. It is for action, and this action is determined, as to the limit of discussion and consideration, by a committee of three. Their edict goes. History affords no such effacement of a historic legislative body. It has fallen a victim of gag law and the czarship of the speaker.

The mineral product of the United States in 1901 is put by the report of the geological survey at over a thousand millions of dollars, being a gain of one hundred millions over 1899. More than half of this vast aggregate, or values over $566,000,000, were yielded by coal and iron. The United States has its place firmly fixed as the greatest producer of coal in the world. It passed Great Britain in 1899, and is now in a much greater lead, with a production in 1900 of nearly 270,000,000 tons, valued at $307,000,000.

The Havemeyer Sugar Trust would like to have Cuban sugar admitted free and the duty on refined sugar remain as it is. The Oxnard beet sugar aggregation does not want free cane sugar from Cuba brought into the country for fear of competition with the beet sugar industry. Both parties wish to have the tax on refined sugar retained. Both desire to sell dear sugar to American consumers. Both are animated in their contention at Washington by mere greed of gain. What Congress ought to do is to reduce the duty on Cuban sugar one-half, or else admit it free, and make a corresponding duty in the tax on refined. This would help the Cubans out of their bankruptcy, save millions to American sugar consumers, and leave a fair margin of profit to refiners.

President Roosevelt will have a ninth member added to his cabinet in a short time, as the bill just reported for a department of commerce is generally favored in Congress and will undoubtedly pass. It will be one of the most important of the executive departments, and the new secretary necessarily a man of much influence and power in the government. Its jurisdiction will include all bureaus now having reference to commercial matters, as well as subjects relating to railways, mines, steamboats and ocean shipping, the immigration bureau, as well as labor, census and patent of fees, the fish commission, etc. The newly-created department was that of agriculture in 1899. Forty years before that the department of the interior was established.

Chance for Real Leadership.

Here is the Philippine tariff before the Senate now. No caucus can be needed to consolidate opposition to a measure so unstatesmanlike and unjust and so obviously expressive of the Republican tariff policy. The senator who shall most clearly expose its

THE WATER WORKS PROPOSITION.

The proposition to be submitted to the voters of Newark next spring for city ownership of water works is a very plain one—easy to be correctly understood. Any attempt to obscure the clearness of the proposition only betrays an evident hostility—a secret purpose of opposition. In order to prevent misrepresentation, secret of otherwise, it is well to restate the exact wording of the proposition that is to be submitted to the voters. It will be printed on the ballots as follows:

"Municipal Ownership of Water Works, Yes."

"Municipal Ownership of Water Works, No."

Simply city ownership is the only question involved in the proposition upon which the voters are to decide by their ballots.

Whether the city shall construct an entire new system of water works, or whether it shall purchase the old system and add to it the necessary enlargements and betterments, is entirely a different matter, and one that will necessarily have to be determined by the City Council after the voters have decided upon the question of city ownership.

What the voters want who cast their ballots in favor of city ownership, is a system large enough and complete enough to accommodate every citizen with water privileges at the LOWEST POSSIBLE COST. Such a system will require 17 miles more pipe than the present one has and a corresponding increase in the number of fire plugs. It is a surprising fact to the average citizen that there are to be 120 streets in Newark that are not supplied with city water.

This fact is surprising because our own people have not kept pace with or fully realized the wonderful, unprecedented growth of our own city during the past few years. The truth is that no city of its class in Ohio has made such rapid strides in the way of improvements of every description, new buildings, new additions, new falsity and formulate the outlines of a liberal commercial policy in contrast with it will put himself at once in the line of leadership. The party in power is blundering along in its colonial policy, in its economic policy, in its financial policy.

Bowing to Public Opinion.
(Philadelphia Times.)

After much beating of the air and winding and unwinding of red tape President Roosevelt finds himself constrained to take up for final settlement the naval controversy dealt with last month by a high court of inquiry. Edmund Burke's notion in regard to framing an indictment against an entire people seems to apply in some sense to this unfortunate affair. The officials concerned have to do with something more than mere opinions and orders in this or that department—they must conform in the end to the dictates of popular sentiment.

Pepsin Syrup Co., Monticello, Ill.

Dear Sirs:—For almost fifteen years I suffered from indigestion and last winter thought I would die, when my physician, Dr. A. J. Lencure of this place, advised my trying Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which I did, and two bottles cured me. It not only relieved me, but it cured me so that I have not been troubled since.

If any one should offer me $500 for the good Syrup Pepsin has done me, one can take your medicine without being convinced of its more than wonderful cures. I recommend it to all my friends as a laxative and stomach remedy. Yours with gratitude, MRS. J. MORGAN.

BOWSER'S MAGIC EYE

HE SUDDENLY DISCOVERS THAT IT HAS THE POWER TO HYPNOTIZE.

Try it on the Cat, and the Animal Has a Fit—But It Wasn't His Fault That His Other Experiments Did Not Prove Successful.

(Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.)

WHEN dinner had been finished the other evening, Mrs. Bowser noticed that Mr. Bowser was looking at her in a strange manner, and when he had continued this for several minutes she asked:

"Have you got a headache or a sore throat this evening?"

"Not a bit of it," he answered.

"Are you puzzled over anything?"

"No."

"Well, your countenance looks as blank as if you had fallen from a haystack and struck on your head. I didn't know but something had happened."

"You needn't worry yourself about my blank countenance, Mrs. Bowser. As a matter of fact, you are not competent to tell when a man's whole soul is in his face or when he has no more feeling than a cabbage head."

It was policy for her to maintain silence, and he walked up and down for five minutes with his hands crossed under his coat tails before he continued:

"A rather queer thing happened at the office this afternoon. A man named Gilbert came in on some business, and the minute I caught his eye I hypnotized him. He was like one in a trance. When I told him to sit down, stand up or walk around, he obeyed me like a child. He would have flung himself out of the window if I had told him to. It's the first time I ever knew that I had hypnotic powers, and the idea rather upsets me. Did you ever suspect that I had this power?"

"Never," replied Mrs. Bowser, with a laugh.

"What in thunder are you giggling about?" he demanded as his ears began to twitch.

"About your hypnotic powers. Did you take this Mr. Gilbert out after the show and treat him?"

"Of course not! What do you mean?"

"I didn't know but he was working you for the drinks."

"Say, woman, you ought to be sent to an asylum for fools!" shouted Mr. Bowser as the blood reddened his face and neck and took away all the blankness. "If I ever start to tell you anything, you always twist it around to make out that I haven't brains enough to chew gum. Did you ever see a case of hypnotism?"

"I don't think so."

"Then don't try to be too funny. I say I hypnotized that man. More than that, I have discovered that I have a great power that way. I can hypnotize you, the cat, the cook, almost any one else. Just watch that cat for a minute."

He sat down with his hands on his knees and fastened his eyes on those of the cat, which was sitting on the floor a few feet away. She glared back at him for a few seconds, and then her eyes began to grow green, her tail to become bushy and her back to arch.

"She'll go mad if you don't stop," cautioned Mrs. Bowser.

"Keep quiet. Don't break the spell," whispered Mr. Bowser as he continued his glare. "She came under the influence sooner than I expected, and it will be a complete success. By George, look at that back! Now watch her while I tell her to jump down and roll over on the floor."

He gave the order, but the cat meowed and spat at him. He repeated it, and she uttered a long drawn howl.

"You are driving her mad!" exclaimed Mrs. Bowser as she rose up to flee.

"Shut up! Now, cat, you jump to the floor and roll over. Jump, I say!"

She jumped. She jumped to the piano, clawed off the cover, bounded to the floor, and after a "spit" and a howl she ran down the basement stairs and scared the cook out of her seven senses as she whisked out into the back yard.

"Didn't I tell you I could do it?" exclaimed Mr. Bowser in great glee as he rose up. "That cat will be a beautiful subject to work on, and in less'n a week I'll have her standing on her head and playing all kinds of circus. I will now exercise my powers on you."

"You won't do anything of the kind!" protested Mrs. Bowser, "and you'd also better let the cat alone. She was scared instead of hypnotized."

"Nothing of the sort. She was under the influence as plain as day. Look me in the eye for a minute."

"I shan't do it."

"Look me in the eye. Now raise your right arm."

Mrs. Bowser turned her back on him. "Now lift your left foot."

No lifting took place, but Mrs. Bowser started down the hall to go up stairs.

"Woman, I command you to return!" shouted Mr. Bowser, but she did not feel the "influence" and passed on out of his sight.

"I'll bring her to it! I'll bring her to it!" he muttered to himself as he turned away. "I've got the power and she feels it, but I'll take her unawares next time. I'll go down and hypnotize the cook."

The cook promptly objected. He had scarcely explained his errand and asked her to fix her eyes on his for a minute when she said:

"I'll do nothing of the sort, and if you don't get out of this kitchen I'll throw up me job."

"But, my dear woman, I wish to carry out an experiment," he pleaded.

"Then carry it out on somebody else. I'm here to do the cooking at $20 a month, and nobody can make a fool of me. I had a brother who was fool enough to look a man in the eye, and he went to the hospital with his legs all tied up in knots."

Mr. Bowser turned away with a sigh, but luck was with him. Just at that moment the basement bell rang, and he went to the door to find a traveling tinker who wanted to mend any old tinware.

"Come right in," was the hearty greeting. "I don't think we have anything to mend, but I'd like to explain a matter to you. You have heard of hypnotism, of course?"

"It's where a feller glares at you," replied the tinker.

"Yes, something that way."

"And you lose your mind and he makes you do as he will?"

"That's it. I think I'm a hypnotist, and I want to experiment a little. You look me like a good subject, and—"

"No fooling, sir! I'm a hardworking man, and I don't stand for no nonsense."

"Look me in the eye," whispered Mr. Bowser.

"I'll do it, sir, but—"

"Now let yourself seem to sink away as if going to sleep. Keep your eyes on mine."

"Don't get me mad, sir, because when I'm mad I'm dangerous."

"Keep quiet, tinker. Now, then, you are in a burning building and must escape by the window. Do you see the flames around you?"

"I do."

"Do you feel the heat?"

"I do."

"Do you realize your peril?"

"I do, sir, and dom me if I'll let any man make a Punch and Judy out of me! Here's for you!"

It was the cook's yell that brought Mrs. Bowser down stairs, and she found Mr. Bowser on his back on the dining room floor in a semiconscious condition. The tinker had swiped him one on the jaw and got out.

"It was the hypnotism, the hypnotism, missus," explained the cook as she stood with arms uplifted.

"Yes, it was the hypnotism," whispered Mrs. Bowser as she bent over the recumbent form. "He's got it, and got it bad, and while I'm making a poultice for his jaw you get the camphor and take off his shoes and collar."

"And will be live, mum?"

"Oh, yes, but he won't be a hypnotist any more. He'll probably turn to phrenology."

POMONA GRANGE

Met at Appleton Saturday, Fifty Being Present—Will Meet Next in Newark.

Licking County Pomona Grange met at Appleton on Saturday, January 11, with Brother John M. Lambert in the chair. There was a good attendance of the members about fifty of the brothers being present. The fifth degree was conferred on five candidates after which the reports of the secretaries of the various granges were read, all of which show an increased interest and large gain in membership. The report of Brother W. W. Simmons delegate to the state grange, was quite extended and was full of interest.

After considerable discussion of the matter the grange decided to organize a Grange Mutual Insurance Company. After hearing from the various granges in the county, a resolution was adopted asking our representative to do all in his power to have the same laws of Ohio remain as they now are, especially the permit clause.

A committee consisting of Messrs. I. M. Beaver, Edward D. Moore and S. O. Preston was appointed to call on Hon. Wm. Bell, Jr., and explain the matter and the wishes of the several granges.

The grange closed to meet again in Newark on February 1, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of organizing the insurance company.

RAILROADS.

B. & O. NEEDS MEN.

Railroad men who were in attendance at the meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers at Grafton, say that the B. & O. was never in such great need of employees. On the Pittsburg division engineers and firemen are needed, while all kinds of help is needed on the Pittsburg and Western.

A. B. & O. ORDER.

An order has been promulgated by the B. & O. that no new locomotives being shipped from the factories over the B. & O. will be transported unless the parallel rods are in proper position and connected, the reason given being that it is hard to stop a train with the dead engines disconnected, and in addition they create an oscillating motion that makes it dangerous in rounding the curves. Heretofore engines have been hauled over the B. & O. with the side rods and other connections stowed away in the tender, and the cab, but hereafter all connections must be in position or they will not be transported over the B. & O. We are informed that this rule has been in force on other through lines for some time, and trainmen say the objections are well based.

THE FOXY MAJOR.

HE ORGANIZES A NEW SYNDICATE FOR THE BENEFIT OF A CREDITOR.

The Grand Promoter Teles His Latest Bunko Game on Another Victim. Who is Equal to the Occasion and Refuses to Bite.

(Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.)

It was a young man with long hair, well worn raiment and the enthusiasm of art in his eyes who knocked at Major Crofoot's office door and was bidden to enter. The major's face lighted up with pleasure as he turned from his desk, and he rose and advanced with outstretched hand and cheerily exclaimed:

"My dear boy, I was just this moment writing a note to ask you to call."

"SHARE HANDS WITH ME."

Shake hands with me. Shake heartily. I think I have prepared an agreeable surprise for you."

"Major Crofoot" replied the young man as he sat down stiffly, "four days ago I came here with three paintings for sale."

"Four days ago exactly," said the major as he rubbed his hands together.

"They were landscapes, gems of art, my own work."

"Perfect gems, as I am glad to say."

"You did not care to buy, but you told me you had a friend who would probably take the three and pay me a fair price for them."

"I did, my boy, I did. You are perfectly correct about that."

"I left them with you," continued the young man, "and the next day, as I learned, you ran them into a pawnshop. Sir, I am here to demand the return of the gems. It was a scoundrelly action on your part to pawn them."

"My dear boy, my dear boy, how glad I am that you called for an explanation!" replied the smiling promoter as he paced up and down. "At the first go off my action appears inexcusable to you, but listen. I took you for a young man of perspicacity as well as a born artist. I saw you looking at this somewhat dilapidated office. I saw your regarding my somewhat threadbare wardrobe. I saw consideration in your eye. When I pronounced your pictures perfect little gems, but informed you that I could not buy, I supposed that you caught on to the fact that I was temporarily hard up."

"Nothing of the sort," exclaimed the artist.

"Then it was a mistake for which I beg your pardon, although I am not satisfied that it was a mistake. Knowing my financial situation, you desired to extend me aid, and it does you great credit that you extended it as you did. Instead of offering me money you left the pictures behind to be converted into cash. Sir, it was a master stroke on your part. Any other course would have humiliated me. I can scarcely think of it without tears starting to my eyes."

"I never left those pictures here for you to sell or pawn, and you know it."

"That is right, my dear boy. Deny it as vigorously as you will. True charity is always veiled. You did a thing for me I can never forget, and you did it without hurting my sensitive feelings in the slightest. I took those pictures out and raised a dollar and a half on them, just as you calculated I would, and it was the turning of the tide."

"A dollar and a half on three gems worth $25 each!" shrieked the young man as he rose up.

"A dollar and a half from my uncle," soothingly replied the major. "He said he would like to advance $50 on them, but it was his busy day. The dollar and a half was enough, however. It pulled me out of a hole and turned the tide, and now your bread cast upon the waters shall return to you. You will not have to paint any more gems for a living. A month hence you will be president of a bank."

"Don't talk to me, you old scoundrel! You lied to me and robbed me, and if there's any law in this country I'll have you behind the bars!"

"Yes, my dear boy," softly continued the major, "you will be a bank president and own your own yacht and a country residence. Yesterday I promoted the Old Boot and Shoe syndicate, with a capital of $1,000,000. The title is not a high sounding one, but wait a minute. The number of old boots and shoes thrown away every year in this world is 5,000,000,000 pairs. The number of these discarded pairs that can be cobbled up and resold again is 4,900,000,000 pairs. You buy up the discarded shoes for an average of 5 cents a pair. Your cobbling costs an average of 20 cents. Your sales average 40 cents, or a clean profit of 15 cents per pair. You can figure as well as paint. Tell me what the annual profit will be."

"Blast your old boots and shoes! I want my pictures!" shouted the young man as he got another fit.

"The profits will be millions, my dear boy, tens of millions, and all we have to do is to bank it as it comes in. We give employment to 500,000 buyers, to 500,000 sellers, to 1,000,000 cobblers. We are philanthropists as well as money makers—millions of money, my boy, and you shall be treasurer of the syndicate. When you left those gems behind me to pawn, when you relieved the financial situation so neatly and delicately, I made up my mind to do for you. Let me congratulate you, dear treasurer, heartily congratulate you. I shall ask for no bond, but repose perfect trust and confidence in you. Sell out your studio, throw away your brushes, get that green paint off your nose and prepare for the great change in sight."

"Look here, now—I want my pictures!" exclaimed the artist—as his eyes flashed in anger.

"And come in again soon, come in to sign the papers and see about renting an office," replied the major as he stepped on his toes and backed him to the door. "As soon as we open this business—"

"What are you crowding me for?"

"We'll want to drive it for all it's worth, you know. Your salary for the first year will be $25,000, but we can double it for the second. You'll also want a block of stock, and I guarantee—"

"I say I want those pictures!"

"Guaranteed at least 20 per cent dividends. Goodbye! I'll look for you tomorrow, or next day."

"You sneak swindler!" shouted the artist from outside the locked door.

No reply.

"You blamed old robber!"

No reply.

"You thief and deadbeat!"

But the major had returned to his desk and the business of making out the papers of the O. E. and S. syndicate.

GUEST OF THE NATION

Washington Discusses Coming of the German Prince.

AN ELABORATE PROGRAM PREPARED

Forecast of Week in Both Branches of Congress—Philippine Tariff, Nicaragua Canal, Ship Subsidy and Other Important Matters May Be Reported by the Committees.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The announcement that Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of Emperor William, will come to the United States at an early date, already has caused much interesting speculation as to the details of his reception. The program for his entertainment will be an elaborate one, appropriate for his high station. He will be met at New York by representatives of President Roosevelt. An officer will be detailed from the army and one from the navy to arrange for the convenience of the prince and to accompany him. He is an admiral in the German navy, and when he arrives at New York will be greeted by a salute of 21 guns, which is the same as a presidential salute. He may make an address at launching of the imperial yacht which is to be christened by Miss Roosevelt, and it is not improbable that President Roosevelt will attend the launching and respond to the prince's address. On his arrival in Washington, Prince Henry will be received by the president and will be invited to become the guest of the nation. The imperial yacht Hohenzollern will also be given a cordial reception. The North Atlantic squadron may be ordered to receive the yacht at sea.

The indications are that the present week in the senate will witness a greater display of activity in the senate committee rooms than in the senate chamber. Among the measures which there will be an effort to get out of committee during the week are: The Nicaragua canal bill, the Philippine tariff bill, and the ship subsidy bill. The indications are that the Nicaragua bill will be reported practically as it passed the house, and the shipping will not be materially amended, but the Republican leaders have practically decided to make a material reduction of the tariff on Philippine imports. It is not probable that the discussion of either of these questions will begin for some time. The utmost that is to be expected in that direction is a preliminary arrangement for consideration. Which of the measures shall receive first attention is not yet determined, and considerable rivalry is likely to develop for precedence. All of the three measures will be debated at some length when taken up in the senate.

In the House.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The really important work of the house of representatives is still in the committee stage, so that there is little of importance to be considered during the coming week. Monday was given to bills affecting the District of Columbia. After that the pension appropriation bill will be passed. Although this measure carries about $129,000,000, it follows the department estimates and does not involve any serious issues, so that after a brief explanation its passage usually follows promptly. The chief interest of the week will center in hearings on Cuban reciprocity, to begin at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning before the ways and means committee. The hearings will continue for several days, and it is expected that General Wood and others prominent in Cuban affairs, as well as the interest opposed to reciprocity, will address the committee.

Boycotting English.

Manila, Jan. 13.—Commissioner Bernard Moses, head of the department of public instruction for the islands, has delivered an address to the teachers of Manila, in which he particularly urged the continued instruction of Filipino children in English. He said the members of the wealthy Filipino classes were making a great mistake in sending their children to Spanish schools, as the consequent neglect in English instruction would injure their position and standing in the islands, which would inevitably and indissolubly become a portion of the American nation.

Thrown From a Horse.

Folkstone, Jan. 13.—Hon. Richard Reid Dobell, Canadian minister without portfolio, was thrown from his horse near here and is dead. Mr. and Mrs. Dobell arrived here a week ago and were joined by Major Hull, their son-in-law, and his family. Mr. Dobell and Major Hull rode together to Hythe, attended by a groom. They were returning and had reached the foot of Shorncliffe camp, when Mr. Dobell's horse was startled by a motor car, going in an ordinary pace, and threw its rider, who fell on his head.

Woman Roasted to Death.

Marquette, Wis., Jan. 12.—Mrs. Lena Christel, 70, was literally roasted to death here. Her charred and lifeless body was found in her room by a policeman who had seen smoke issuing from the place. The woman's death is mysterious. Her son, Martin Christel, her son, is in jail to await an investigation. Her body was found some distance from the bed where she had been lying sick, and there were evidences of a terrible struggle.

Elevator Burned.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Fire in the elevator of the American Malt company destroyed the elevator, in which were stored 300,000 bushels of barley. The loss, it is stated, will be near $500,000.

SICK AND AILING WOMEN

Should Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for Advice—It is Absolutely Free and Has Restored Thousands of Women to Health.

All Letters Are Sacredly Confidential and No Names Are Published Without Special Permission of the Writer—All Letters Are Received, Opened and Answered by Women Only—During the Last 20 Years Mrs. Pinkham Has Gained a Greater Knowledge Regarding Female Ills Than Any Other Person, and is Consequently Better Qualified to Advise and Guide Sick Women.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM,
Discoverer of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

In addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience in treating woman's diseases is greater than that of any living physician—male or female.

You can talk freely to a woman when it is revolting to relate your private troubles to a man—besides a man does not understand—simply because he is a man.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probably examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is greater than any local physician. The following invitation is freely offered; accept it in the same spirit.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

Has restored more women to health than any other medicine the druggists have ever sold—It outsells all other medicines for female ills two to one—Therefore it must be unequalled. Accept no substitute.

Four Letters Showing the Result of Mrs. Pinkham's Advice.—Thousands More of the Same Kind Are on File in Her Office at Lynn, Mass.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been for some years a great sufferer and thought I would write and explain my case to you as you had helped so many others. Menstruation is irregular and very painful. I have suffered with painful periods for ten years but the pains grow worse as I grow older.

"I suffer most with my back, lower part of abdomen and left side. I have been flowing all the month and a part of August, not constantly, but will stop for two or three days and then begin again.

"The doctor says I have misplacement of the womb. I have bearing-down pains when passing urine, and my abdomen is very badly swollen and sore. Please advise me at your earliest convenience."—Mrs. A. V. SCOTT, 21 Page St., Kingston, Pa. (Sept. 30, 1900.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When I wrote to you asking advice no one could describe my suffering. The doctors said I could not be relieved unless I had an operation performed, but thanks to you and your medicine I got along without having the dreaded operation. I have taken ten bottles of your medicine and am once more well and happy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a fine medicine and a God-send to suffering women. I trust my letter may be the means of bringing many of my suffering sisters to accept your kind aid."—Mrs. A. V. SCOTT, 21 Page St., Kingston, Pa. (Jan. 30, 1901.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Some time ago I wrote you that my regular physician had made an examination and told me I was afflicted with a tumor in my womb. I had backache, headache, bearing-down pains, and very profuse menstruation. My limbs would ache so I could not sleep, and I was very weak and nervous. I was bloated from my head to my feet. After receiving your letter I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and followed all the rest of your advice as near as I could, and the tumor was expelled in pieces, and I regained my natural size. I continued taking your Vegetable Compound for a while longer and felt like a new woman. I cannot thank you enough for your kind advice, and what your medicine did for me. It certainly saved my life."—Mrs. PERLEY S. WILLIS, Vershire, Vt.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—One year ago I read a letter in a paper telling how much good one woman had derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had been sick all winter and was nearly discouraged, as the medicine the doctor gave me did me no good. I had kidney complaint, leucorrhoea, itching, bearing-down feeling, and painful menstruation. I wrote to you describing my trouble and soon received an answer telling me what to do. I followed your instructions, and have taken nine bottles of Vegetable Compound, and used one package of Sanative Wash, and one box of Liver Pills. I am well now, do not have those sick spells at the monthly period, but can work all day, and that I never could do until I began taking the Compound. I cannot praise the Compound too highly. I do hope every suffering woman will learn of your remedies, and be cured, as I have been. I wish all success to the Compound; it has done wonders for me and I am so thankful."—Mrs. GENIE KELLOGG, Berlin Heights, Ohio.

FIND THE TWO WITCHES.

Safe from the giant's harsh restraint
Jack and his princess reached a path
That led afar, and, just as faint,
The knight assured her that the wrath
Of giants never could reach them now.
Still as he spoke the witches ran Beside them, each with scheming how To checkmate. Find them if you can.

AMUSEMENTS.

Our preconceived notions of the "wild and woolly West" have been completely destroyed by "Arizona." In this vile and romantic comedy of frontier life, Augustus Thomas has shown that human hearts are practically the same, irrespective of environment. The theme of "Arizona" is no innovation. As far back as Shakespeare's time, plays have been woven around the action of a man who sacrifices all to shield the frailty of a woman. This is Thomas' central idea but the realistic fashion in which he handles it, as well as the sprightly dialogue, the epigrammatic lines, and above all the action and atmosphere makes the piece seem just a little nearer to actual life than many of its predecessors. Kirke LaShelle, the proprietor of the "Arizona" company, has been complimented by the Chicago papers for setting aside the precedent of other managers, and declining to cheapen the cast after the play's success had been assured. The company, which played the engagement at the Chicago Auditorium, has elicited such favorable comment from the papers of that city, is the one which will appear in Newark tomorrow night, January 14.

KINK DODO WEDNESDAY.

Royal splendor, fascinating music and irresistible laughter, and bewitching feminine beauty are the component parts of that remarkably successful musical production "King Dodo" which will be seen here Wednesday night, Jan. 15. The work was contributed to the stage by Frank P. Joy and Gustav Lunders, author of "The Burgomaster" and is pronounced superior in construction and entertaining in the musical department.

ANNETTE

degree which has placed it among the most important productions of the American operatic stage. Some idea of the entertaining qualities of the new opera may be gained from the announcement that it has enjoyed a run of five straight months with unusual success at the Studebaker Theatre in Chicago. This is believed to be the record for long engagements in the Illinois metropolis, and should stamp "King Dodo" as a worthy rival of any similar production made in the United States in the history of theatricals. This, its first tour of the country, promises to be auspicious in many respects. The prestige of the long stay in Chicago will undoubtedly arouse in terest above the ordinary among all classes of theatre-goers, and the character of the presentment to be given here should render the engagement in this city one of the most notable of the theatrical year. The complete production and magnificent company are promised, and as there are some sixty people employed in the interpretation it may be guessed that a treat is in store. "King Dodo" is in three acts, each of which is said to present a masterpiece of the scene painter's art, and to exhibit a costume display of the most engaging and lavish description. An augmented orchestra is included in the organization.

DAVID HARUM THURSDAY.

The famous comedy, "David Harum" will be produced by Charles Frohman here Thursday night, Jan. 16 at the Auditorium, with all special scenery and effects as near as possible identical with Mr. Frohman's original production at the Garrick theatre in New York, last year where it ran the entire season. In transplanting the story from the book to the stage three acts have been made and all its scenes are laid at Harum's country home. It is said few, if any, liberties are taken with the original story, with the exception that the comedy is far more dramatic than the novel.

AUDITORIUM NEXT FRIDAY.

The engagement of Miss Alice Archer in Forbes Heerman's successful American comedy drama, "Jesse, of the Bar Z Ranch" at the Auditorium Jan. 17, Friday evening, will command wide attention. Notwithstanding the seriousness of the motive, there is ample opportunity for comedy and the opportunity is not neglected. While the locale of the story and its theme are used to bring out novel and powerful scenic and dramatic effects these climaxes are heightened by the lightness and liveliness of the comedy which intervenes. The cowboy is a newcomer among stage comedians, and the cowboy as he is, in all the humorlessness of his everyday life, funnier because depicted with fidelity to fact, lives and moves and has his being in "Jesse, of the Bar Z Ranch" just as the author knew him on the "really, truly" Bar Z Ranch out in New Mexico. The "cow puncher" is chief gun maker, but not the only one. The piece is full of pungent humor and healthy, hearty fun, which constitutes an effective foil to the more serious and sentimental scenes, while all is enveloped and permeated by an atmosphere as charming as it is new to the stage, and the atmosphere of the great Southwestern cattle ranges. It will be one of the season's best attractions, carrying a load of scenery and a cast of twenty people.

CIGAR BOX

CONTAINING FIFTY DOLLARS IS STOLEN

From Nelson & White's West Newark Grocery—No Clue Has Been Found by the Police.

Messrs. Nelson & White's West
Newark branch of the Pittsburg Cash Store, corner Grant & Williams street was burglarized some time after midnight Saturday.

A side window was kicked in and in this way the burglars gained an entrance to the rear part of the store. A cigar box containing about $50 in money had been placed under the ice box, and this was taken, besides several dollars worth of cigars and other merchandise.

The burglary was discovered when one of the clerks went to the store on Sunday morning.

The police were notified, but as yet have no clue to the burglars. The job was evidently done by some one familiar with the methods of the store.

LARWILL SUIT

Executors of the Estate Want to Pay $15,000 in Taxes Instead of $51,000.

Mansfield, O., Jan. 12.—Paul Oliver and Richard Smith, executors of the late John C. Larwill, a wealthy resident of this city, have brought suit to enjoin the auditor of the county from placing on the tax duplicate and certifying to the county treasurer taxes alleged to have been omitted, in the sum of $51,000. The plaintiffs allege that there is no cause why such amount in the shape of back taxes should be charged against the estate, and while they have agreed that $15,- 000 would be a proper and equitable sum to be paid for the estate, they object to the payment of $51,000. The proceedings throughout will be watched with interest, as a number of other cases, including the claim against the Sherman estate, are still awaiting settlement. The county commissioners recently employed A. A. Douglass, former prosecuting attorney of the county, as tax inquisitor, he to receive 20 per cent of collections. They also authorized the employment of various lawyers to assist in such cases, they to receive 35 per cent of the amounts collected. With the 5 and 4 per cent respectively allowed to the treasurer and the auditor, 64 per cent of collections promise to get away from the people, and the latter are not very enthusiastic as to the late payment of tax cases, which, by proper diligence on the part of the officials, might be settled without so much loss to the people and to the gain of inquisitors, lawyers and others interested in extra fees.

WEDDING

At St. Francis de Sales Church—Miss Mary McGee Becomes Mrs.
Patrick O'Neil.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at St. Francis de Sales church at 8 o'clock this morning, the happy couple being Miss Mary McGee, the accomplished daughter of Mr. Michael McGee, the groom Mr.
Patrick O'Neil, one of the most popular engineers of the B. & O. railroad.
The bride was attended by Miss Katie Murray and the groom by Mr.
Samuel O'Neil, a cousin of the groom.
The ceremony was performed with nuptial high mass, after which the happy couple repaired to the home of the groom where a wedding breakfast was spread, after which the happy couple left on an extended wedding tour. They have the best wishes of all their friends.

Evart's Meeting.

The services were largely attended on the Sabbath. The morning sermon was one of great comfort to very many on the loving care of God our Father. Many practical illustrations were given of God's care for men who from a sense of right gave up their position because Sunday work was demanded. A strong point was made on the necessity of loyalty to God in order to claim the promises of God's care and guidance. The address at Taylor Hall to men only was a very practical one and timely; the appeal to the reason and better judgment of men to do right, was strong and well received.

The evening service was attended by many seemingly not in the spirit of the meeting, and the power of the Holy Spirit was not so manifest as in other meetings of the past week, yet a number denoted their desire to be Christians by remaining to the after meeting.

An earnest appeal was made to all Christian people to consecrate themselves to God in the present work and the meeting closed with an altar service for the unsaved present and for the church. The Bible institute work will begin on Tuesday, at 2:30. This is for instruction in the use of the Bible in laboring with the unsaved.
This work will continue through the week. Meetings every night at 7:15.
All are welcome.

Labor Day in Newark.

In the regular order of Labor Day celebrations this year would be Mr.
Vernon's turn, but in view of the fact that this is Newark's centennial year and a movement has been started for the proper observance of the event, and the fact that the State convention of Elks will meet here, the Trades Council committee was instructed to communicate with the Mt. Vernon Labor and Trades Council, explaining the situation to them, and inviting them to join Newark in celebrating the day in this city, assuring them that Newark will return the compliment in 1902.

It is probable that in consideration of these facts the Mt. Vernon people will agree to the request and the Elks Convention week will be ushered in with a monster celebration of Labor Day.

The State Convention of Elks will meet in Newark the first week in September, and the Elks and the Trades Council will co-operate to make the Labor Day celebration, and the entire week memorable.

The Elks' committee consists of W.
D. Fulton, Walter Scott, Frank Man-ath and Eugene Koos.

Toledo—A number of Indians now living in the Indian territory lay claim to a twenty-five-mile strip of land along the Maumee River, and propose to soon bring their claims into the Courts. They say the grant was sold for taxes after being given them abandoned in reality it was unavailing. The property is worth $2,000,000.

IN OLDEN TIMES.

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action, but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently overcome habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system. Buy the genuine, made by the California Fig Syrup Company.

MYSTERY

Surrounding the Assault on Mrs. Ada
G. Dennis in Washington is Not Yet Cleared.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Ada Gilbert Dennis, the fashionable modiste who was murdered assaulted on the night of Dec. 8, was able for the first time today to make a statement. The police have been hopeful that what she would say would throw some light on the motive for the crime or lead to the discovery of the perpetrator, but Mrs. Dennis' statement contained nothing that would give any clue in either direction. She said she remembered nothing immediately preceding the attack upon her, and said the blow was struck while she was asleep. Nor had she the remotest idea who committed the assault nor motive for it.

Concealed Himself in a Box.
San Francisco, Jan. 12.—Frank Holt, a military prisoner on Alcatraz island, serving a 13-year sentence for desertion, has escaped. He concealed himself in a large wooden box, which was consigned to a clothing firm in this city, and which was put aboard the steamer McDowell. The top of the box was so arranged with leather straps that it could be opened from the inside. It is thought that after the box was put aboard Holt crawled into it and did not emerge until the vessel reached the dock on this side of the bay. As Holt was dressed in a blue uniform he walked away as any other soldier, without detection.

EVERETT-MOORE

Creditors Hold a Session at Cleveland.
They Want to Stand by the Syndicate.

Cleveland, Jan. 12.—A large majority in amount of the creditors of the Federal Telephone company, owned and controlled by the Everett-Moore syndicate, were in session here. A large part of the conference was taken up in discussing various proposals for the purchase of the entire properties.
Creditors have expressed a desire to stand by the syndicate and if possible assist them in keeping the property under their control. They favor the depositing of all the stocks and bonds of the constituent companies owned by the Federal Telephone company in some big trust company, to be used as collateral securities for a new issue of bonds, these bonds to be accepted as payment for the claims held by the creditors, and thus enable the syndicate to go on with the operation of the company and keep it under its control.
